The road to tenantry is paved T. M. Jeffords. City officials have withdrawn the complaint filed last week before the Public Service Commission. It is understood that the Utility Company will give the City four lights on the White Way around court square free of charge for a period of one year, and will also furnish street lights at the rate of $26.00 per year per light. An adjustment was also made on the rate for power furnished at the City pumping station, according to the terms of the agreement made Monday. It is understood that the City will start with forty street lights. The lighting committee has not yet.
